PDF FORMAT WE FEEL THE WANT OF PROTECTION THE POLITICS OF LAW AND RACE IN CALIFORNIA 1848 1878

Author: California History

Release Date: Lanzamiento previsto: @@expectedReleaseDate@@

California's history has been entangled in romanticized accounts of the daring Spanish conquest of savage but pliant Indians, of tradition-bound California stewards, and of hard-driving, entrepreneurial Yankee Argonauts. (1) These fictions were promulgated and abetted by influential early historians such as Hubert Howe Bancroft, who contended that California's passage from Spanish and Mexican rule to Anglo-American hegemony represented the triumph of superior racial, political, and cultural forces over the "descendants of the people of Montezuma." (2) This school also held that conquest and admission of California to the Union was the "Manifest Destiny" of white, Christian Americans. (3) Bancroft, acknowledging that crimes and brutalities abounded in the European settlement of California, nevertheless concluded: The idea of conquest in the American mind has never been associated with tyranny. On the contrary, such is the national trust in its own superiority and beneficence, that either as a government or as individuals we have believed ourselves bestowing a precious boon upon whomsoever we could confer in a brotherly spirit our institutions. And down to the present time the other nations of the earth have not been able to prove us far in the wrong in indulging this patriotic self-esteem. (4)
